Women's Newspaper Offices.

Philadelphia Fublic Ledger.

A former printer, now a well known journalist, said recently to a newspaper man: "There is a newspaper field for women which is very little cultivated. It is the conducting of local newspapers, the weekly home papers of the country towns that give the events of the locality in which they are printed. I want to tell you what I struck in my travels when I was playing traup printer. It was in Massillon, O. There was an office there where a weekly paper was printed, which was conducted in all its departments by women. The proprietors were two sisters. They had a female apprentice. The elder sister was the editor, but the younger offe was a good local writer. They had a 'patent outside' for the paper. All the rest of the work these three persons did. They even ran the press on which they printed an edition of 000 or 1,000. It was a power press, and one of the drum cylinder kind that turned with a big crank. Occasionally they sent out a hired man to turn his press for them on publication day, but often they worked the press themselves. They were too rich, and they saved this expense, if possible. The peculiar feature of the office was its extreme neatoess. There were no piles of dirt swept into the corners. There was no pi under the stands that bore the case. There was a pot or two of flowers in each window, and a canary hird sang in the cage above the type rack. The old tramps ranging through the country then used to go in and take a look at the office. It was different from anything they saw anywheres. They used to shake their heads and go off routeries. They had a not the cage above the type rack. The old tramps ranging through the country then used to go in and take a look at the office. It was different from anything they saw anywheres. They used to shake their heads and go off routeries. They were to refer the case and go off routeries. They had a presson and the country then used to go in and take a look at the office. It was different from anything they and take a look at the office. It was dif-ferent from anything they saw anywhers. They used to shake their heads and go off muttering. They never tasked for work. They knew they couldn't spit tobacco-juice on the floor of such an office. There was no 'heil box' in which to dump their pl, and it didn't seem home-like to them, so they gave it a wide berth."

A Bride Cheats the Parson, A Bride Cheats the Parson.

Okicogo Inter-Occan.

Some rather odd stories could be told by the man who ties the knot, did he choose to give his thoughts torgue. If the fee is $50 or more, the groom takes great pleasure in personally transacting the business, but is equally anxious in securing a substitute when a smaller price is to be paid for the union. In case he has no brother of his own, the bride's relative is pressed into service, in which instance that lady is more or less officious. At a rather stylish party which occurred on Monroe street, about two months ago, the siylish party which occurred on Monroe street, about two months ago, the groom put a $20 gold piece in the kidded hand of his small brother-in-law, with directions for its transfer to the parson, and burriedly left the room. The bride, hearing the conversation, succeeded in detailing the juvenile, and hunting up one of the $5 colus her mother had given her for "travaling triles." wasned end! one of the $5 coins her mother had given her for "traveling trifles," swapped gold pieces and called herself "just a husband and $15 ahead." She changed her mind very shortly as to the monetary gain for the first thing abe heard as she emerged from her room in her traveling suit was, "Taint as big as the one he gave me first. Sister kept it and said this would do well enough." Even the groom marveled at the blushes of his pretty wife as the urbane minister wished her good-bye and godspeed.

Ex-President Arthur's Weak Condition

f, Y. Star.

For the past three weeks there has For the past three weeks there has been no change whatever in the condition of ex-President Arthur's health. His sister, Mrs. Mckiroy, has been unremitting in her attention. Shortly after he was first stricken down she left her home in Albany and came directly to Mr. Arthur's house, No 123 Lexington avenue. She has watched by his bedside ever since. The symptom in the ex-President's case which occasions the greatest alarm to his friends is his extreme weakness. One who has seen him President's case which occasions the greatest alarm to his friends is his extreme weakness. One who has seen him recently said yesterday: "Ever since General Arthur experienced that relapse about a month ago, Dr. Peters, his physician, has done everything in his power to build up his patient's strength, but without result. On bright, sunny days Mr. Arthur slways easys that he feels better, but as soon as wet weather comes he ter, but as soon as wet weather comes he grows worse again. It is not the disease which troubles Dr. Peters. He feels confident of his ability to control that, what causes his anxiety is to see day follow day and the General as weak as on the day after the relapse. His friends now feel that they can do nothing but

"No, I didn't think it was necessary," George replied, "because he has always been so friendly and cordial with me. Oa yesterday he slapped me on the back and gave me a good cigar, and told me how well I was looking, and that I must come up to the house as eiten as I could, and that you would always be glad to see me, and that we could have the parior to ourselves every night if we wanted it, and—"

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

Hogs give returns so quickly that even if only a small profit is made on each lot these profits can be made quickly. Hogs multiply rapidly, and hence less capital is required for beginners than for other stock.

If an iron wire be twisted during or soon after the passage of a voltaic current through it the wire becomes magnetic. When the wire is twisted in the manner of a right hand screw, the point at which the current enters becomes a south pole; in the opposite case it becomes a north pole. If during the passage of the current the wire be twisted in different directions, the polarity changes with the direction of the twist.

The best and shortest way to improve a farm is to reduce the stock, plow your fallows in winter so that the soil will be warm and dry and the subsoil decomposed early in the spring. Harrow well sud then sow ton or twelve quarts of grass seed to the acre when you put in your oats. If all take, your chance is good for obtaining from five to ten acres of oats and a field seeded down to grass. Then prepare as many acres for rye sowing, previded your land is not good enough for wheat and the two crops will give you all the straw you need and the corn field, with usual good luck, will produce enough to fat stock. At the end of the season you will have the produces from fifteen to twenty acres of land, represented in oats, corn and potatoes and a many acres so you will rye and wheat. Keep just stock.

have the produce from liteen to twenty acres along the same of land, represented in oats, corns and potatoes and as many acres sown with ryes and wheat. Keep just stock enough to eat up the produce in grain and hay, and after gathering your next year's crops of hay and grain, covering asy fifty acres of your farm of 100 acres, you may think of adding as many head of cattle as your farm will sustain without purchasing very heavily of foreign supplies. By the end of the fourth year you are ready to put in a crop of wheat and save plowing by your bottom meadow, you have reseased the whole farm and are now ready to enlarge you dairy—and at the expiration of ten years your land ought to be in a condition to double your crops and the number of your cattle. This is rotation.
